

The Center for Southeast Asian Studies presents

Friday Talks-at-Noon

LINDA TY-CASPER

History and Literature: Aspects of Memory

November 7, 2003, 12:00 p.m.-1:30 p.m., Room 1644 SSWB, 1080 S. University Ave.

Linda Ty-Casper is the author of eleven novels set in periods critical to Philippine history. The Stranded Whale, her latest novel, was published last year by Giraffe Books. Her talk, "History and Literature: Aspects of Memory," considers the relationship between literature and history as records of events, and the roles these forms have played in Philippine history and Philippine-American relations since 1898.
